"The Summer of Extraordinary"

Week 7

It Was a Carnival to Remember!

Week seven started off with a double fantastic day, the First Grade Breakfast in the morning and the Second Grade Stay Late in the afternoon. First Graders fairly flew off the buses in pjs to enjoy a delicious breakfast at camp complete with french toast sticks, a variety of cereals and bagels. That afternoon Second Graders stayed after camp for an extra swim, a yummy dinner and to make Arts & Crafts fireflies. This fabulous evening was topped off by s'mores and a sing-a-long with the parents. Tuesday was a bit soggy, but that didn't stop campers and counselors alike from celebrating Pajama Day. There were pjs and teddy bears everywhere. Wednesday dawned brisk and bright for the day everyone, and I mean everyone, was waiting for, CARNIVAL! And what a Carnival it was. There was a Bungee Trampoline, Turbulence Swing Ride, Bumper Cars, a Trackless Train and a Pony Ride to name a few. There were booths galore and of course my personal favorite part of Carnival, popcorn and cotton candy! Thursday was another day of double fun with the Kiddie Kingdom and Lower Camp Shows. Let me tell you, Broadway has nothing on these talented campers. Friday was one of the most hilarious days of the season, the Counselor Beauty Pageant and believe me, beauty is definitely an exaggeration, but not the fun. Monday is Hilarious Hat Day. Don't forget there is no visiting the last week of camp. Have a great weekend.

Blintzes

Ingredients

- 1 (3 oz) package cream cheese (not whipped)
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 Tbl sugar
- 20 pieces of fresh white bread
- 6 Tbl butter
- 1 tsp cinnamon
- 3 tsp sugar
- optional: blueberries or sliced strawberries

Directions

1. Preheat oven to 400°F.
2. Line a cookie sheet with parchment paper.
3. In a mixing bowl beat the cream cheese, egg yolk and sugar with an electric mixer at medium speed until smooth and creamy. Set aside.
4. With a heart or round cookie cutter, cut the shape out of the center of each piece of white bread one slice at a time. Feed the crusts to the birds!
5. Place a heaping teaspoon of the cream cheese mixture in the center of 10 of the bread shapes. At this point you can leave them plain or add a few blueberries or a slice of strawberry. Cover each with a second shape.
6. With your fingers, go around the very edges of the "sandwich" to pinch the two pieces of bread together. Then go around again, this time with the tines of a fork. This will give a pretty edge and will firmly seal the seams. Place the blintz sandwiches on the prepared cookie sheet.
7. Place the butter into a small microwave-safe bowl and microwave for 45 seconds, or until it melts.
8. Stir in the cinnamon and sugar. Using a pastry brush, carefully brush both sides of the "sandwich" with mixture. Be generous. Really brush it on!
9. Place in the oven and bake for 10 minutes. Remove from oven and allow to cool for a few minutes.

It Went By Fast

The seventh week of camp went by so fast and was the best so far. Even though it rained on Tuesday, Joey Reilly had an awesome time at DDR. Furthermore, Jeffrey Mann won a game for his team in Volleyball. The best part of the Carnival was where Grant Reiter, Matthew Bransky and Alex Mancinelli had a blast playing all the Carnival games. Jack Kern was a winner at Wall Ball. Georgie Fotiadis had an awesome time in Ga-Ga. Jared Krasnove had a great time in Baking where he devoured s'mores and also on the field playing Soccer. Ian Abkowitz had an awesome time during the Carnival where he won a bunch of games. Finally, we will miss all of the campers who are leaving, and can't wait to see them next summer.

Coasting Along

The G1A Sparkly Mermaids are coasting through camp as week 7 comes to an end. Our newest addition, Saraiah Hoover, was able to pick up our dance for the Drama Show in one week and show us some of her own moves as well. Caitlyn Holmes and Jessica Zevon showed off their knowledge of the Arctic during Nature, while we made a blubber glove to protect ourselves from the cold. Ava Masiuk and Daniella Rubino became mad scientists when we made Oobleck. During Arts & Crafts, Maya Sampson and Avery Lipton showed off their creative side when making key chain people. Maya Davis and Kayla Resnick became master chefs in Cooking when they made yummy blintzes. As the summer comes to an end it's sad to see some girls go. Each girl brings something very special to our group. We wish everyone luck as they enter first grade. See you next summer!

The Weeks Have Flown By

The weeks of this summer are flying by, but that has not put a damper on the lovely ladies of G1C. We started our week with a super yummy breakfast of French toast sticks, bagels, cereal and juice which everyone enjoyed. Catelina Manzano made beautiful bracelets, while we waited for the rain to pass. Then we were off to practice for our show where Adamari Lopez had such a great time. Danielle Gaskell and Allison Ridlovsky loved learning that music can be made by anyone or pretty much with anything, and being able to play different instruments with their friends. Marissa Shummette had a super fun time guessing which of her friends was watching her in Creative Dramatics. Even though the rain fell on Tuesday the fun continued. Rebecca Unglert showed off her vast knowledge in Game Show and Ava Koller had an awesome time making key chain people in Arts & Crafts. Our days might be coming to an end but that does not seem to be slowing down all the fun we are having in G1C!

Simply Fantastic

Group G1B had a fantastic 7th week of camp! Hayley Kozodoy had an exciting week back - we celebrated her birthday on Tuesday and she was super stoked for Carnival on Wednesday! Lauren Goldenfarb is having a great time at camp especially with all of the friends she has made. She always has a smile! Gabriella Unger also enjoyed her week back at camp. She missed her friends and making treats in Bake Shop! Rachel Goldenfarb couldn't wait to paint the turtle she made in Ceramics last week, she really loves art. Heather Handeland has been enjoying swimming and sunbutter sandwiches. Melissa Keenan can't wait for Soccer each week, she's an awesome player. Olivia Neri loves singing for her friends at camp and looks forward to swimming each day. Savannah Newman is a Ga-Ga superstar and also loves Mad Science! We can't believe next week is the 8th and final week of camp; we're really going to miss these girls. We hope that they've all had an amazing summer and have made incredible memories. We sure have!

MIDDLE CAMP BOYS AND GIRLS!!

In week five, Boys 3/4/5 won the Soarin' Sammy's Secret Spot Contest, finding the most Sammy symbols hidden around camp. Their searching paid off when they got to enjoy a special ice cream sundae party. The feasting continued at the end of the week when they all chowed down on Manny's tacos for Fiesta Friday.

Week six was full of accomplishments. We had a very impressive victory over Liberty Lake during the away Swim Meet. The home Swim Meet was also a success, we are so proud of all of the swimmers who participated. Way to go! Everyone strutted their super stuff during Super Hero Day with each person dressing as their favorite character. Batman even made a camp appearance!

Both the boys and girls had their second overnights in week six. Highlights from the girls' overnight included the Newspaper Fashion Show and s'mores for dessert. They also cheered on the Eagle's Landing Soccer team who beat Liberty Lake in an exciting inter-camp game. Then they sang their hearts out while watching "High School Musical." The boys had a Bingo Dance Party and then cheered on the ELDC inter-camp Softball team in their inter-camp game against Summer Friends. Post-rain s'mores were delicious before watching "Dunston Checks In." Who doesn't love to watch a monkey move into a hotel?!

With our combined forces the boys and girls of the 3/4/5 division hold one of the top spots in the Penny Pincher competition. It makes us feel really good that we are helping families in need. It's hard to believe there is only one more week of camp. We wish everybody a great school year and we can't wait until a fantastic 2014!

Our Kids are Creative and Dramatic!

7 Weeks done? That was too fast! We've been keeping busy in Creative Dramatics! We created characters with our animal puppets one week. The pink unicorn was popular (just ask the boys!), so was the dragon, alligator, dolphin and many others.

Another week we picked items from a basket and acted out many different, creative and often funny ways to use them. How many ways can you think of to use a frisbee? The rest of us had a fun time trying to figure out what we were seeing!

Costumes were a big hit recently. Some of our campers (and counselors) chose traditional costumes and others made up some using their own combinations! There were princesses, pirates, policemen, a duck and a bee, dancers, and super heroes, to name a few. It was so much fun and at times surprising to see how everyone expressed themselves!

We also like to play games in Creative Dramatics. Pantomime, Row, Row, Row Your Boat, Musical Chairs, the Blanket Game and Wink Murder were some we tried. Reading books and acting them out kept us busy too. Five Little Monkeys was a favorite with the younger campers.

The campers enthusiasm brought life and fun into everything they tried! It is so much fun to see how open and creative the kids are willing to be!

Pat, Creative Dramatics

Kaleidoscope of Art

Campers are continuing to use their imaginations in Arts and Crafts. GKA, crafted frames from colorful popsicle sticks. The amazing Guiseppe took their group picture to include in the frame. BKA, GKB, BKB made colorful masks using felt and other fun craft materials. GKC and BKC used construction paper to make nature inspired bald eagles and eggs.

First grade campers were tempted to pop bubble wrap while using it to make stamps to represent bee hives. Then each camper used thumb prints to paint bees. Second graders got inventive stretching the use of winter gloves each masquerading as an octopus. They even learned how to make their very own yarn pom-poms.

Third grade girls had the opportunity to make their very own mosaic tile trivet. Third grade boys were excited to paint their plant holders made in Woodshop. Boys also had their moment of glory when they rainbow loomed. If you don't know what that is, just look at your child's arm. Fourth graders began gearing up for back to school and designed and made a handy folder using hard felt, yarn, and puffy paint. Fifth graders dabbled in Femo clay and crafted clay food. CITs and LITs had fun tie dying.

It's never a dull moment in Arts & Crafts, tons of exciting projects for every camper. Campers who couldn't get enough of art came back for electives and made bath fizzies, learned the technique of felting, and participated in Wrecking a Journal, to name a few. Can't believe one more week of camp. Many more fun projects next week and of course, next summer!

Summer Lovin' Had Me a Blast!

Can you believe the summer is almost over?!?! The LITs and CITs have been having a blast in the sun, working hard, and making new friends. They have been an absolute joy to have. To see their growth over the summer to become responsible role models has been a joy to see.

The CITs have been rockin' this summer. They are wonderful with their groups and have been a huge help in organizing Special days and lending an extra hand where needed. Whether they are learning new games or gaining new skills to use, these CITs are working hard to make sure their campers are having the best summer yet! They are currently working on the Penny Pincher fund raiser that has raised over $800 for RISE! In addition, they have been answering SAT word definition questions, which helps donate rice to countries in need. This week they will be going to an animal shelter to donate goods as well as their time. We look forward to seeing many of the CIT's become future counselors here at ELDC!

The LITs are also leaving their mark at camp. They have been busy learning what it takes to be a great leader. Although they may only see their groups for a few periods a day, these LITs are doing an awesome job. Their community service takes place at the RISE thrift store. Their help and teamwork has already made a huge difference in the running of the store. Before they leave, they will receive community service hours for their service. Organizing shelves, outside clean up, and heavy lifting are nothing for these future leaders!

This week we hit up Sandy Hook for some great rays and to make memories. We can't wait for next week's Mystery Trip to finish the summer! We would like to take this time to thank all camp families that have helped us with our causes and goals. Without you, our contributions to the community would not have been possible. Also, thank you to all the LIT and CIT parents for supporting us throughout the summer and this fantastic program. Till next summer, celebrate like there's no tomorrow!

Jordan and Elise, LIT/CIT Division Leaders

Outstanding at the Half Pipe

These last seven weeks have been outstanding down at the Skate Park. Everyone has shown great improvement over the summer. Some campers have even mastered our biggest ramps. I am always impressed with everyone's sportsmanship and encouragement towards others. Almost every camper who has visited the Skate Park has a solid foundation of the basics and with a little more work, they will look like pros! I can't wait for week 8.

Clint, Skate Park Instructor

G5B had another fantastic week at Eagle's Landing. Maya Iskowitz demonstrated to the group how truly intelligent she is in Astronomy where she knew more about the constellations than anyone else. Caitlin Price showed off her skills in DDR where she blew the competition away. She's got the moves. Daniella Frantz enjoyed going to the different booths during Carnival spending time with her friends. Maya Benson and Danielle Brenner enjoyed rides and food, but mainly loved having the whole afternoon together. Brenna Matthews had a great time at Arts & Crafts where her really creative side came out. Jocelyne Solano showed the group up in Ga-Ga and won many games. Finally, Jordan Dicker had a fantastic time at Ropes where she laughed endlessly while working the elements. Week 7 was a great week for us girls and we are sad to see Caitlin and Jordan leave, but we hope they had a great summer. We can't wait for a great week 8 to finish off the summer.

Christina, Counselor and Amanda, JC G5B

Another Fabulous Week

G3C had another fabulous week at Eagle's Landing. Samantha Alter and Alexandra Gawron were all-star dancers during our dance party. Samantha danced to throwback Backstreet Boys' songs, while Alexandra danced to our division's favorite song, "The Wobble". Tavis Ganguly was the Queen of the Court at Tennis. Carly Drobbin and Haley Sawyer baked delicious ice cream cone cake pops in Baking. G3C had an awesome time at the Carnival playing games and going on rides. We can't wait to see what week 8 brings and we're so sad that camp is coming to an end.

Hollie, Counselor and Gemma Rose, JC G3C

I Got a Bull's Eye!

"I got a bull's eye!" is often heard down at Archery. Over the course of the summer, we have seen amazing improvement. What started out with just a few kids barely hitting the target, has turned into almost all of them hitting the target and a lot getting bull's eyes. We have even seen Middle Campers get two or three bull's eyes. As the summer has progressed, I have introduced two games, one called Follow the Leader, in which I shoot one arrow and they try to get the same color. If they do, they earn a point. The other game is called Colored Arrows named by Joel Simon of B5A. It's the same as Follow the Leader, except if the color is closer to the bull's eye, you get two points and a bull's eye earns you three. All in all the campers have loved and improved in Archery so much.

Ben, Archery Instructor

HAVING A BLAST

G5A had a blast during week 7. Minta Caune enjoyed her first time on the Cargo Net during Ropes. Leanne Coulthard made green slime in Mad Science. Annie LeDonne made a rocket and launched it during Rocketry. Lauren Brennan rocked the house during DDR and got her first "C"! Sarah Berger made a beautiful yellow and orange string bracelet using the Chinese Staircase stitch. Lauren Molter loved Carnival Day especially the Teacups. Lauren Bregel made a delicious ice cream cake in a cone during Baking. Kaitlin Bavaro played Pop Tropica in Computers and won. Last but not least, Rilyn Szabo loved riding Lucky during Horseback Riding. We can't wait to see what week 8 has in store for us.

Jackie, Counselor and Amanda, JC G5A

IT WAS AMAZING

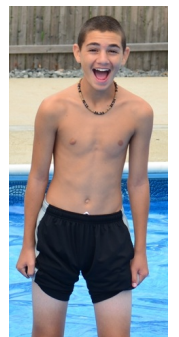

This week at Eagle's Landing Day Camp was amazing. Jacob Resnick became the King of the Court at Tennis. Joshua Webber loved the animals in Nature. Brandon Weber gets better at Ga-Ga each week, he won his first game on Thursday. Max Goldstein had a great time building in Woodshop. Lex Demarest was a master chef in Cooking. Matt Seidman became a monkey at Ropes. Ryan Bernstein swung for the fences in Softball. We look forward to a great last week at camp.

Tim, Counselor and Corey, JC B4B

It's Coming to An End

GKB is sad to see the summer coming to an end, but the fun never stops! This week was a blast whether it was raining or not. All of the campers had fun at the Carnival, playing games and bouncing on the moon bounce. We are so proud of our group and the performance they gave at the Lower Camp Show. Madison Carpenito showed off some different skills in Cooking this week and made delicious treats. Sara Adams did great at T-ball when she practiced hitting, she could be a professional. Sarah Levine and Samantha Fersht swam like fish in the sea during all of our Swim times. We can't wait to have another amazing week for week 8!

Alex, Counselor and Ariel, JC GKB

Still Rocking it Out

More than 6 weeks in and the GKC gang is still rocking it out. Olivia Mitchell was a daredevil in Nature when she let a snake climb all over her head. Keira Rosenzweig absolutely loved Carnival Day. Her favorite ride was the choo-choo train. Alyssa Zimmer put on her lab coat in Mad Science as she created Oobleck. Zoey Aleixo grabbed her sunscreen and met a few friends by the pool. She's swimming so fast that we think she might be part fish. Lily Simmens rocked her dancing shoes at Movement. She was invited to "Gangnam Style" with Psi. Alison Beiderman made some scrumptious s'mores in Cooking. Everyone is asking for her recipe. Brooke Schnalbolk hit a few grand slams at T-ball. She almost broke the camp record. Ashley Drobbin had a blast at Creative Dramatics. She really gets into character. We'll see her on the Disney Channel. We are excited to see what the last week has in store but it's going to be hard to say goodbye to the wonderful girls of GKC.

Alyssa and Christina, Counselors GKC

Continuing to Have Fun

It has been a great week for everyone in B2C. Jack Altmann enjoyed playing Ga-Ga this week, making it to the bottom two. Sebastian Bollentin's eyes lit up watching the popsicle experiment at Mad Science. Harrison Lollin and Sebastian Sherry both had a blast at Ga-Ga. Evan Maruyama loved Soccer this week. Robert Progebin thought building a robot in Arts & Crafts was just awesome. Aidan Rosenzweig had a blast at Carnival. Sebastian Sherry thought getting his face painted like Spiderman was way cool. Last but not least, Brandon Tapia and Aaron Zimmer both enjoyed getting their faces painted and everything Carnival. Even though we have one week left, we're going to continue to have fun.

Matthew Liquari's always up and ready to have fun in Ropes and Creative Dramatics! Andrew Rubenstein's been doing a great job at Movement, and Jesse Beckman enjoys himself the most at Nature!
